SCORED THE JURORS.

JUDGE ANDERSON BECOMES INDIG-NANT OVER A VERDICT.

HAMPTON'S ATTORNEY ANGRY.

WILL PROSECUTE SOME OF THE STATE'S WITNESSES FOR PERJURY.

Daniel Holland Breaks Three of His Wife's Ribs White Hugging Her-Plan to Help the Hayes Family-Sad

Case of Destitution.

Judge Anderson delivered a severe lecture to twelve jurors in the common pleas court yesterday. The cause of the lecture was a verdict which the jurors returned in the case of the state accelnst Charles Gibbons charged with burglary and larceny, Gib-bons and D. R. Jones were arrested a short time ago on the charge of entering the home of H. J. Feunstick, No. 963 Tenney avenue, and stealing two silver watches and some other jewelry. They were taken befors a justice of the peace and bound over for trial in the common pleas court. When they were arraigned Monday the attorneys for the defense demanded separate trials for the men. Gibbons' case was called for trial first. Yesterday morning it was given to the jury and that body retired. Just before court adjourned for dinner the jurors notified the court that they had agreed upon a verdict and they were brought into the court room. The clerk read this verdict: "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of larceny and find the value of the property taken to be $8." "Is this your verulet, gentlemen?" asked Judge Anderson, "It is," replied one of the jurors. "How did the defendant get the goods?" inquired the judge.

The jurors admitted that he took them from the house.
"How did he get into the house? Did the evidence not show that entrance was secured while the family was away." When they were arraigned Monday the at-

The jurors remained silent and Judge Anderson continued:

"I expect jurors in my court to return verdicts in accordance with the law and evidence. If, as you state, he stole the goods, then he certainly is guilty of burglary, for how could he get the goods without breaking into the house! He was either guilty of larceny and burglary or innocent. Then the evidence shewed that the property was worth more than the verdict states. I do not intend to run a court where the jurors render verdicts that are not warranted by the evidence at all. The verdict you have rendered is not in accordance with the evidence, and I cannot see how you arrived at such a cohemision. I feel as though I ought to discharge every one of you from further service as jurors in this court. I will not keep jurors in the box who have no respect for the coaths which they take upon taking their seats. There is something radically wrong with the vidence, and it was stated last evening that a motion to set aside the verdict in the case would be made, on the ground that it is not in accordance with the evidence.

HAMPTON'S ATTORNEY ANGRY.

Bays He Will Prosecute Some of the State's

Witnesses for Perjury. The attorneys in the Hampton murder case vesterday finished taking the evidence but the argument will not be made until next Tuesday. The continuance was taken to give the stenographer time to reduce the evidence to writing and give the attorneys evidence to writing and give the attorneys time to look over it and make their briefs for use in the argument. The stenographer said that it would take him all this week to reduce the evidence. This is the long-est preliminary trial ever held in the county. About twice the number of witnesses were examined that were examined in the were examined that were examined in the Little murder case at the preliminary hearing and it took seven books to hold of the shorthand notes of the evidence.

The time was taken up yesterday with rebuttal evidence. Airs Earan, wite of the man whom Hampton killed, was examined to very closely again, and while on the standa a spirited conversation took place between Justice Betts and Attorney Hale, for the defense. The country attorney opened a new loophole by asking the witness if she knew of Earan being shot in Chicago. Upon cross-examination Attorney. Hale tried to prove that she did know of it, although she testined she did not. Mr. Miller objected to the questions on the grounds that they were similar to the ones ruled upon by the court a few days ago. The judge sustained the objections. Mr. Hale kept on asking questions until the courgrapher not to take the questions of the strongrapher of the indigence and notified the stemographer of the court to be placed in the records, but the judge told the reporter not to put them in.

"Well," said Mr. Hale to the court reporter, "just consider yourself employed be me and put them down for me." Well," said Mr. Hale to the court reporter not to put them in, the guessed he would have a complete record of the trial of the case. Before the other stenographer arrived, however, the judge told the reporter not to be in the first of the Armour picking house.

He then permitted the questions to be asked and answered. Mrs. Eagan testified that she did not know that her husband was shot or that he was in a Chicago hospital three months as a result of wounds. This evidence seemed to startle the derendant's attorneys, as he seemed to have definite knowledge that she visited her husband at the hospital. After a very rigid cross-examination she admitted that she went to some place in Chicago to see her husband, but she could not state whether it was at a hospital. She could not remember whether her husband was sick or well, or whether her husband was sick or well, or whether her husband was sick or well, band, but she could not state whether it was at a hospital. She could not remember whether her husband was sick or well, or whether he was confined to a bed or doing manual labor. She had a very good recollection about everything except this matter.

The state is trying the case on the theory that the Eagan killed by Hampton is not the notorious safe-blower and all-around crook Eagan that the police have talked so much about. There were a number of photographs exhibited in the trial yesteriay. Some of them were taken from the Eagan home and others were taken from the rogues gallery in Chicago and the two cities at the mouth of the Kaw. The witnesses for the state all declared that the photographs severed from Mrs. Eagan were those of Eagan, but they declared that the photographs severed from Mrs. Eagan were those of Eagan, but they declared that the ones taken from the rogues gallery bore no resemblance to him. The defense claims that the Eagan killed was the notorious Eagan and that all of the photographs exhibited are of the same man.

Just before the case was closed last evening Attorney Hale notified the court that he would probably secure evidence and endeavor to have some of the witnesses for the state tried on the charge of perjury. "I never heard so much perjury and endeavor to have some of the witnesses for the state tried on the charge of perjury wilrully. We will give the county attorney a chance to prosecute some of these people with whom he has been holding such close counsel recently, and if he fails to do it, then we will see that the court appelnite a hawer who will prosecute the case."

In speaking about the matter further Attorney Hale said that if any of the witnesses in the case should be convicted on the charge of perjury they would receive the same punishment as hear of hearing that if any definite evidence of perjury was produced he would prosecute the accused.

Caroline Elmarks Seeks to Recover Two Lots From Sarah Pierson.

Caroline Elmarks yesterday filed sult in the common pleas court againts Sarah Pierson to secure the possession of a deed to two lots located in Greystone heights, just two blocks from the Rosedale boule-vard. It is claimed that the property is worth $3,000. In the petition the plaintiff claims that gworth $1,000.

In the petition the plaintiff claims that she is a lery orlinary woman and that she has no knowledge of business transactions; that the defendant is a woman who has had a great deal of experience in the business world. She says that for several years Mrs. Pierson was her warm friend and that she put the utmost confidence in her. The plaintiff moved to Shamon county, Mo., a couple of years ago and she left her business here in the hands of Mrs. Pierson, Last October, she states, Mrs. Pierson, Last October, she states, Mrs. Pierson words her that she could sell her property in Greystone heights and urged her to make a deed to the property in her favor, so that she would not be hampered when it came to the closing of the deal.

The plaintiff says she compiled with the request, because she had so much confidence in the Pierson woman. The deed, she says, was made out to Mrs. Pierson, but that the name, Mrs. Sarah Pierson, has since been crassed, and the name of Anna. Pierson inserted in the deed. The plaintiff says the last name was forged and that the deed will show the erasure marks. She wants the court to order Mrs. Pierson to return the deed, which she says is forged. This is the property, the rent of which caused H. Elmarks to get into trouble across the state line about a month ago. Elmarks is the son of the plaintiff in this case. He collected the rent from the property belonged to her and that Elmarks had no right whatever to the tent money. He was arrested and taken before Justice Krueger, of Kansas City, No., and the case was taken on a change of venue to Westport, where it was dismissed later.

ments have been made with the remedy in order to demonstrate just how much real merit it possessed. The results of these experiments have been all that could be desired; in fact, in many cases the cures very little short of wonderful.

The remedy is prepared in lozenge or tablet form, pleasant to the taste, and harmless even for the stomach of an infant. In fact, no secret is made of its ingredients, being composed of vegetable essences, fruit saits, pure pepsin and bismuth. They are sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and are undoubtedly the safest and most reliable remedy to use when the stomach is weak, or any trouble whatever with the digestive organs.

Mr. C. Bensinger, of the firm of Bensinger & Co., 5 and 7 Dey street, New York city, relates his experience briefly but unmistakably. He says: Some three months ago I purchased at a drug store two boxes of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I take great pleasure in stating that after using about half of one 50 cent box I felt such a wonderful relief from the dyspepsia I was suffering from that I did not need the rest of the box. Thoughtful men and women are cautious regarding patent medicines and very properly so. Being secret preparations you cannot know just what you are taking into your stomach. With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, composed as they are of pure, fresh pepsin, vegetable essences, fruit Tablets, composed as they are of pure, freah pepsin, vegetable essences, fruit suits and bismuth, no risk is incurred. The overworked, irritable stomach is at once invigorated and rested, and perfect digestion means strong nerves and muscles, a clear head, energy for mental or physical work and capacity to enjoy life.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsis Tablets. If yours does not happen to have them he will get them for you, as they are sold by all wholesalers.

One finds himself drawn along by the rapidly moving crowds and is roon hurrying with the rest. It is undoubtedly true that two-thirds of all the men and women one sees tearing through the streets are in no such actual haste. They are merely victims of this fearful habit of hurry.

But whether the fearful rush is essential or not, the result is the same. Nerves and brains are exhausted, men and women grow prematurely aged, times of depression follow the high-strung condition. The entire nervous system must be rapidly and fully nourished to prevent utter prostration and system must be rapidly and fully nour-ished to prevent utter prostration and collapse. It is estimated by physicians that Paine's celery compound annually saves thousands upon thousands of men and women living in cities from breaking down under their work. It builds up the substance of the nerves and brain faster than it is torn down by even such prodigal waste. Kingman, Kas., Feb. II.—(Special.) Yesterday active operations were resumed at the Rock Island salt plent. This is one of the three plants that formerly contributed so materially to the city's prosperity, but, with the others, has been closed for more than two years. The company representing a capital stock of $25.000 is reorganized under the name of the Kingman Salt Company, with C. G. Eastly, president, and W. M. Ireland, secretary, and is entirely independent of any salt trust. A force of twenty men is now employed and the output will be 160 barrels of salt per day.

It is a well-known fact that in Organic Stricture that in Organic Stricture there is a croupy deposit—a fibro-plastic material—in and on the imacus material—in and on the imacus memorane of the water passang; that it gradually consended in the use of knife caustics, boungies, sounds and puckering of the membrane. This being the case, how can the cutting or rupturing of a stricture cure it? It cannot the deposit is still there.

The ingenuity of the surgeon has been thoroughly taxed to find an effective method for the cure of stricture. Sources of operative procedures have been devised—gradual, rapid and continuous dilations, boungs, stricture will come away in a sawdust-like form of a rule, all are failures. How many patients have had this kind of treatment—suffered untold misery and pain for months or years, and at last, quit in disgus.
